

NINETEENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT

COLUMBIA COUNTY BEHAVIORAL HEALTH COURT, 230 Strand St., St. Helens, OR 97051

Summary

Columbia County Behavioral Health Court (BHC) is a collaborative docket comprised of team members from each partner agency. The current partners are the Judge and assigned court staff from the Columbia County State Courts, Columbia Community Mental Health, Department of Community Justice, Columbia County District Attorney's Office, Community Action Team, Columbia County Sheriff's Office, and the Justice Alliance of Columbia County.

The Behavioral Health Court was created to provide a structured supervision and treatment program for defendants who are involved in the criminal justice system due to their untreated or unmanaged mental health concerns and possible co-occurring alcohol and other drug addictions. The goal is to help defendants get stable, so they can become healthier and be removed from the cycle of active symptomology, crime and justice system involvement.

Assigned members of this team meet regularly to case manage participants and provide accountability, regular services, referral and contact with each participant. The court docket is held regularly, with the ability to schedule appearances as needed to intervene in a timely fashion with participant infractions. The average length of stay in the Behavioral Health Court program is 12-24 months but may be as long as 36 months.

Eligibility of your client's referral will be screened by the DA and defense attorney for case history, and Columbia Community Mental Health for mental health diagnosis and eligibility. The Behavioral Health Court Team will determine whether a candidate is a good fit for BHC and will be accepted into the program.

When Clients are Eligible to Refer to the Behavioral Health Court Docket

- You suspect your client has a significant mental health concern, which in being untreated or unmanaged and has led to their involvement in the criminal justice system.

Behavioral Health Court

The Columbia County Behavioral Health Court program is designed to help a person connect to and receive mental health treatment that will help a person become more stable and comply with the law. This program was started because the court acknowledged that some people may have committed crimes because they are affected by mental health condition(s) and/or substance use issues. The program was created to assist people in becoming more stable by developing recovery skills and/or coping skills to live successful lives.

As a participant in the treatment court program you will work frequently with members of the treatment court team. We want to see you succeed in this program and are willing to help you maintain stability and/or sobriety by supporting you wholeheartedly in your efforts.

This handbook has been created to provide guidance to Behavioral Health Court participants throughout the program and will be a great resource for you. The handbook has been designed to answer your questions, summarize what is expected of you, and provide an overall summary of the program.

Mission Statement

Behavioral Health Court provides a supervised alternative case processing model for people who, but for an untreated mental illness or an unmanaged mental disorder, would not commit crimes. Behavioral Health Court assists in reducing risk to community safety by enhancing mental health treatment.

Eligibility Criteria

- Persons who are 18 or older.
- Persons who reside in Columbia County.
- Persons who are sentenced to formal probation in Columbia County or have been convicted of a misdemeanor crime,
- Persons who have a serious mental health diagnosis: Examples include: Schizophrenia, Bipolar Disorder or Major Depressive Disorder.
- Persons charged with:
 - A new felony crime
 - A probation violation for a current felony crime
 - A misdemeanor crime (on a case by case basis only)

Equity and Inclusion

The Behavioral Health Court Team is committed to equity and inclusion. Our community partners offer a variety of treatment options which are trauma informed and responsive to various cultures, communities, and abilities. We also welcome feedback from the participants, community members and community partners.

Behavioral Health Court vs “Regular Court?”

“Regular” Court is designed to decide if a person did or did not commit a crime based on the evidence of a case. If the person is found to have committed the crime, a judge imposes a sentence and orders the person to complete the sentence. Court sentences usually include things as probation, fine, jail time and/or community service.

Behavioral Health Court is different. Instead of the receiving a “typical” sentence for the charge, the person is allowed to enter Behavioral Health Court as their sentence. The Behavioral Health Court team then focuses their attention on the whole person, including their mental health and substance use issues. The team creates a plan that looks at each person’s strengths and weaknesses. The goal is to help each person achieve stability so they can become a safe and healthy person in the community.

How People Enter the Program

You can be referred to the program by your defense attorney, the District Attorney’s Office, probation officer or mental health counselor.

The Behavioral Health Court Team must then decide if you meet the program eligibility. The Behavioral Health Court Team will review specific criteria to decide if you are eligible for the program. These include, but are not limited to:

- Your mental health diagnosis and treatment history
- Your criminal history
- Your willingness to participate in substance use and/or mental health treatment
- Community safety and victim impact

The Treatment Court Team

The treatment court team consists of the following members who work together to create a safe and supportive environment for you to succeed.

- Circuit Court Judge
- Trial Court Administrator
- Deputy District Attorney
- Treatment Court Coordinator
- Treatment Counselor
- Probation Officer
- Columbia County Sheriff Deputy
- Defense Attorney
- Peer Mentor
- Community Action Team

Before the treatment court hearings, the treatment court team members meet and discuss your progress. This allows the team to discuss your progress with you during the treatment court hearing.

Program Requirements

- The length of the Behavioral Health Court Program is a minimum of 12 months but can continue for up to 36 months.

Behavioral Health Court Hearings

As a treatment court participant, you will be required to appear for treatment court hearings on a weekly, bi-weekly or monthly basis depending on what phase you are in. Court hearings are held on Tuesdays. Failure to appear on your assigned court day could result in a warrant being issued for your arrest. If you are arrested or turn yourself in you will be held in jail until you can appear before the court. If you have questions about your court appearances you may contact the treatment court coordinator, probation officer or your attorney.

When you are in court for your hearing, you will need to act in a respectful way. Please see below for rules to follow while in court:

- Please sit in the jury section while waiting to be called on by the Judge.
- Do not talk while the Judge is talking or while other participants are talking to the Judge
- Dress appropriately for court (please see below for the courtroom dress code)

Behavioral Health Court Dress Code

While attending all Behavioral Health Court related functions, appropriate dress is expected and required. If you need assistance in determining appropriate dress, please contact a Behavioral Health Court team member.

Appropriate clothing is defined as:

- Neither too tight nor revealing.
- Shirts must fully cover the stomach and chest.
- Skirts and dresses need to be close to the knee, not too short.
- No sleeveless, dirty or torn clothing. (Torn items include new items that have the “worn” look)
- No hats or sunglasses.
- No visible underclothing.
- No t-shirts with inappropriate graphics such as logos for alcohol or other drugs or offensive messages.
- No short shorts.
- No sweat suits.
- No swimsuits
- No cleavage.

If you do not have the money to purchase appropriate clothing, please discuss this with a Behavioral Health Court team member.

UA Testing Protocol

Random UA testing will occur while you are in the program. Each participant will need to complete a UA orientation at Columbia Community Mental Health to get placed on the UA hotline.

Participants will be required to provide a UA at least two times per week but your color/number may be called several times per week.

Columbia Community Mental Health (CCMH) will administer the UA's. Monday through Friday, UA's will be given at Columbia Community Mental Health, at 58646 McNulty Way, St. Helens, Oregon 97051 from 10:30a.m. to 1:00p.m. and 1:30p.m. to 5:30p.m. Please note that UA cutoff time on Fridays is 2:45p.m. Participants must be ready to provide a sample upon arrival. The treatment court program uses instant UA cups. Urine levels must reach the temperature strip on the UA bottle, or they will be considered invalid. Creatinine levels will also be monitored. Anyone caught trying to falsify a UA could be sanctioned by the Behavioral Health Court team.

Please note, it is the participant's responsibility to know what foods and beverages can result in a positive UA.

Some foods and beverages to avoid that can cause a positive UA are:

- Poppy Seeds
- Kombucha tea
- Synergy organic energy drinks
- CBD infused beverages and/or foods
- Certain over-the-counter cold/flu/allergy medications (please see page 14 of the handbook for more information)

Incentives and Sanctions

Incentives and sanctions are imposed by the treatment court team on an individual basis. The team will take many factors into consideration when implementing incentives and sanctions. The team may give an incentive for positive behaviors and achievements and may impose sanctions for negative behaviors and not meeting milestones in the program.

Incentives are used to highlight when a participant or the group is doing well. Recovery coins, words of praise, and gift certificates are some of the rewards used as incentives.

Sanctions are used when a participant is not complying with the rules and expectations of the program. Homework, community service, work crew and jail time are some examples of sanctions that can be ordered.

Medication Management

Participants in the Behavioral Health Court program are often prescribed medications to help reduce their symptoms. It is the expectation of the Behavioral Health Court program and team that all participants take their medications as directed by their mental health treatment provider. If a participant is not following the recommendations of their counselor in regard to taking their medications, a sanction could be imposed.

Prescription Medication Policy

Participants in the Behavioral Court Program are not allowed to use prescription pain medication without prior permission from their counselor. Participants who attend a doctor or dentist appointment must tell his/her doctor or other medical staff that he/she are in the Behavioral Health Court program and may not receive prescription pain medication without prior approval from their counselor.

If a participant is prescribed a medication of any kind, they must contact the treatment counselor and Treatment Court Coordinator immediately to gain authorization to fill the prescription. The treatment counselor will monitor the use of any medication during individual counseling sessions and report any abuse of the medication to the treatment court team.

If a participant is prescribed medication because of an emergency situation over the weekend, they must let the Behavioral Health Court team know first thing Monday morning.

Use of Over the Counter Cold/Flu Medicines

The primary goal in Behavioral Health Court is the support your recovery. We are concerned about any over-the-counter medications you might take. Some over-the-counter medications have interactions with medications that are prescribed by your physician or psychiatrist or may cause other problems. Before using any over the counter drugs, we always want you to speak with your physician or pharmacist about any concerns and then get permission from your Behavioral Health Court Program Manager, Coordinator or counselor.

Please see a list of acceptable over the counter medications on the next page.

Acceptable Medications

Nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs) have also been shown to interact with UDS immunoassays. Both ibuprofen and naproxen have been documented to cause false-positive barbiturate⁴ and cannabinoid¹⁻⁴ levels. In addition, ibuprofen can cause a false-positive PCP level.

Attendance and Absence Policy

Attendance is a crucial part of your participation in the Behavioral Health Court program. Attendance is defined as showing up on time for all services and appointments that are required in the Behavioral Health Court program. Failing to show up on time to any appointment could result in a sanction by the Behavioral Health Court team.

Participants will not be absent from any Behavioral Health Court related appointment (including mental health treatment) unless the participant has been given prior permission from the Behavioral Health Court team. Any absence from the program for an extended period of time (more than 1 day) must be requested in writing and approved by the team (see the Absence Request Form in Appendix A).

During the course of the program you may become ill. If you are ill and are unable to attend a Behavioral Health Court related appointment, you must call the Treatment Court Coordinator, your counselor and the group instructor prior to the appointment. The Treatment Court Coordinator or counselor can approve your absence for being ill but may also request that you see a doctor and provide proof of your illness. If anyone on the team feels that this policy is being abused they can ask that you provide documentation from a doctor.

Confidentiality

State licensing requires that your identity and privacy be protected. In response to these rules, The Behavioral Health Court program and its team members and partners have developed policies and procedures that guard your privacy. You will be asked to sign Consent for Disclosure of Confidential Substance Abuse Information. This disclosure of information is for the sole purpose of hearings and reports concerning your specific court case. CCMH may require that you sign additional forms relative to your specific case within the Behavioral Health Court.

Termination

The program is designed to make it difficult for a participant to leave the program. However, certain participant behaviors may cause the team to consider termination. They are:

- Violence directed at anyone
- Chronic abuse of the rules such as failing to comply with the probation officer, coordinator, or treatment provider
- Altering a drug test in any way
- Missing several drug and alcohol tests (UAs)
- Warrants or new arrests for a significant crime

Violations of program rules are typically addressed through a series of graduated sanctions that could eventually lead to termination. The participant has a right to request a hearing and the alleged violation will be filed as a probation violation.

As a participant in the Columbia County Behavioral Health Court program, you have the right to a hearing prior to termination from the program. If you commit one or more violations while in the program and the Behavioral Health Court team recommends termination, you will be taken into custody. The court will schedule a show cause hearing in front of the treatment court judge where you and your defense attorney can advocate why you should not be terminated from the program.

If a participant misses one Behavioral Health Court hearing, outreach by the team will be done. If outreach is unsuccessful, a warrant will be issued by the participant's probation officer or the court. Once the participant has been taken into custody on the warrant, a show cause hearing in front of the treatment court judge will be scheduled. The participant and his/her defense attorney will have an opportunity to advocate why they shouldn't be terminated from the program.

At the conclusion of a show cause hearing the treatment court judge will make the decision about termination. If the participant is terminated by the treatment court judge the participant remain in custody. The participant has the right to request a separate probation violation hearing or admit to the violation and be sentenced during the show cause hearing. If the participant is not terminated from the program they can be released from custody and will report directly to their probation officer and the treatment court coordinator. Participants who are not terminated should start attending all treatment court related activities immediately.

If a participant absconds from the program for more than 45 days, he/she will be suspended from the program until a Show Cause for Termination hearing can be set.

A participant may also leave the program by choice. However, the participant is required to give the judge a written report as to the reasons for leaving. The participant will then be scheduled for a probation violation hearing which could result in a probation revocation or other sanctions through the probation department.
